LEGAL

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means - electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, scanning, or otherwise - except as permitted under Section 107 or 108 of the 1976 United States Copyright Act, without the prior written permission of the Publisher.

All trademarks and intellectual property are the property of their respective owners.

Limit of Liability/Disclaimer of Warranty: While the author has used his best efforts in preparing this material, he makes no representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy or completeness of the contents of this book and specifically disclaims any implied warranties of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose. No warranty may be created or extended by sales representatives or any written sales materials.

The Publisher has strived to be as accurate and complete as possible in the creation of this report, notwithstanding the fact that he does not warrant or represent at any time that the contents within are accurate due to the rapidly changing nature of the Internet.

The advice and strategies contained herein may not be suitable for your situation. You should consult with a professional in legal, business, accounting, and finance field, where appropriate. Neither the publisher, author nor any distributor shall be liable for any loss of profit or any other commercial damages, including but not limited to special, incidental, consequential, or other damages.

No guarantee of income is made. Readers are cautioned to apply their own judgment about their individual circumstances and to act accordingly. This material is not intended for use as a source of legal, business, accounting or financial advice.

How to Start Teaching English Online (Fast and Easy)

INTRODUCTION

Teach online and get paid when you follow these eight easy breezy steps.

With the ongoing importance of English as an international language, the trend of teaching English online is on the rise as we now have over 1.2 billion people willing to learn english. By taking their lessons online, learners do not have to travel to lessons. Learners can get easier access to native speakers too. Therefore, demand is growing. And so is the need for more online English teachers. Unlike the requirements for a regular desk job (or a regular English teaching job), teaching online gives you a lot of flexibility. You can teach from anywhere, so you can teach along your travel route. And perhaps even earn the money you need to keep your travels going. Sounds like a pretty sweet deal, right?

The question has always been: what do you need to become an online teacher? Is it really possible to teach online and get paid? Here are a few steps you need to follow to answer the basic question, "how can I teach English online?"

Relax as this guide will show you how to start teaching English online today.

How to start teaching English online

Step 1. Be Fluent in the English Language

This is the basic requirement to become an online English teacher, and many learners might prefer native speakers too. If you have an excellent knowledge of reading, writing, speaking and listening, you can probably start your profitable career as an online English teacher without necessarily getting a specialized English language degree.

I know a friend who teaches Physics in one of the schools in my neighborhood, but is also an excellent online English teacher. So you need not have a degree in English to succeed.

Step 2. Get Certified

If you want to have an edge, if you don't want to struggle in the process, then get certified.

This step is not compulsory to get started but is important if you want to build a successful online English teaching career. There are different types of English language certification programs available, among which the most popular are TESL, TEFL, and TESOL. These certifications can be obtained online for a fee.

Any of these three certifications will help you learn skills that are necessary to become a good English teacher. You will learn different methods of teaching, different learning styles, how to plan lessons, how to simplify the language and grammar for your students and what kind of material to use for teaching.

Step 3. Get the Right Hardware and an Internet Connection

Pimp your workspace! You need to make sure that you have all the hardware you need to effectively teach online and an internet connection, which includes:

•   A computer - A laptop or desktop.

•   Webcam - If you do not have an in-built webcam, then get a good quality external webcam. Students studying a language pick up a lot from body language, so they definitely need to be able to see you clearly.

•   A headset with a microphone - So your students can hear you clearly too.

•   Solid internet connection - This might be the trickiest aspect if you're looking forward to some adventure traveling, but a hotspot (or what some folks like to call: a "wifi") can provide extra security to teach on the go.

All these can be purchased from your favorite online store.

Step 4. Install the Right Software

Online classes work best when you can have a video chat with your students. One of the best and most widely used apps for this purpose is Skype. You can install the software. It's easy to use and you can find tutorials on how to teach English online via Skype to conduct your lessons online. You could work through an online English teaching company, and they can provide the software, lesson plans, and manage clients and payments, too. Most definitely, one of the most important steps in figuring out how to start teaching English online is to have the right software and hardware.

Step 5. Create a Resume and an Online Profile

Like you would for any job, you should create a resume that highlights your teaching, tutoring, coaching and mentoring experiences.

Moreover, it is a good idea to create an online profile such as a Facebook page, LinkedIn profile or a website so your students can learn more about you and your ability to teach.

Step 6. Setup a PayPal Account

It's only fun to make money if you have a way to actually get the money! PayPal is one of the most used and trusted methods of online payments. Both independent and online language school teachers mostly get paid through it. Consider setting up your account before you can start to look for clients.

Most African countries (Nigeria and Ghana) find it difficult to setup their PayPal account. A simple video guide has been created to help you setup a verified PayPal account that can send and receive funds. Get it here

Step 7. Browse & Apply for Jobs/Students

This is the most important step. To become an online teacher, you need to find teaching jobs and/or students. The internet is full of job boards and online job markets; however, the trick is to find the most reliable and promising opportunities that will not only help you find students, but guarantee payment.

Step 8. Start Teaching!

Then schedule that first class, open your webcam, and get ready to make amazing connections! Even with their students across a screen, online teachers are often pleasantly surprised at how much engagement they have with their learners. If this is your first time, just know that it can only get better.

Bonus Offer: How To Get A Free TEFL And CEFR Certificate That Is Globally Recognized Without Paying Anything
Become The Most Wanted Online English Tutor and Save Money!! If you ever want to teach English online then you need this!

I see a lot of very smart and intelligent ESL teachers who have the needed skills to teach English online but cannot do so as a result of not having the required certifications. Most of the institutions offering courses to obtain these certificates (TEFL & CEFR) charges so high sometimes up to $1500. Can you afford this?

Why pay so much for what you can get for FREE! Yes you heard me, get globally recognized TEFL and CEFR certificates for free.

A step-by-step guide on how to do this is outlined in the book. Get it here

See this as a bonus, because what you are paying is nothing compared to what you will be getting.

Other things that you will learn from the book are:

• Getting Started With TEFL

• How to Obtain the FREE TEFL Certificate

• Browser Setup guide

• What you need to get registered

• Action steps you need to take

• Get a globally recognized Common European Framework Certification (CEFR) for FREE

• Earn Money as a Professional Online Tutor

• Requirements to become a successful professional online tutor

• Getting ready your Professional CV that is globally recognized to teach English online

• Skills you need as an online English teacher

• Getting Jobs as an online professional

• Introduction to teaching online for kids and adults

• Tips to Teaching Kids Online

• TPR for international student

• Revealed: Platinum Platforms to get paid for teaching English (up to $40/hour)

• How to get registered in them, pass interview, and prepare for demo classes in these platforms

• Possible questions to help you pass interviews in these platforms

• More Platforms you can apply to

• Tricks to Acing online ESL job interviews and Demo Classes

• Important links to help you begin strong.

Get the guide here

Permit me to rephrase the phrase: "knowledge is powerful". Instead, it should be "the right and laser jet needed knowledge is divine!" More than powerful! Good luck!!

Contact Information

You can always reach me (The Author) through the following outlets:

• Mail: download@getvalue.work